Do you want to

- Choose music with proven audience appeal?
- Give your singers music they are sure to enjoy singing?
- Add cultural richness and diversity to your choral program?

MUSICA RUSSICA makes all this possible.

Since 1987, Musica Russica has been making beautiful Russian choral music accessible to non-Russian performers.

We provide you:

- practical, user-friendly, and authoritative editions, with phoneticized texts
- a vast variety of choral literature to enrich your choral programming choices
- a wide array of support and consulting services, including expert diction coaching

Worried about strange languages?

Don't be!

Musica Russica makes singing in Russian, Ukrainian, and Church Slavonic a user-friendly experience. Using our tested and proven Russica™ Transliteration system and our text-specific Audio Diction Coaching Guides, all choirs can sound like NATIVE SINGERS!

Audio Diction Guides are available for EVERY title we publish.

We offer three types of Audio Diction Coaching Guides:

1. Pre-Recorded Audio Diction Guides for all Major Works and Liturgical Cycles;
2. Custom Diction CDs of one or several individual titles, made to your specifications
3. Downloads of individual Audio Diction Guides in mp3 format, available by going to each sheet music title's detail page.

The purchase of a single CD or download includes a "License to Copy", which entitles you to make as many duplicate copies as needed for your singers.

KASTALSKY, Alexander (1856-1926)

Kastalsky used chant melodies and techniques gleaned from choral folk singing to weave wondrous textures of “homorhythmic polyphony.” Rachmaninoff considered him his mentor and actively sought his advice when writing his Liturgy and All-Night Vigil.

The RUSSICA™ Transliteration System (for Russian and Church Slavonic)

The text in Musica Russica editions appears in modern Cyrillic characters and in phonetic transliteration. The RUSSICA™ transliteration system has been designed specifically with singing in mind, since none of the systems currently used to transliterate Russian succeed in accurately transmitting the sound of the language.

VOWELS

Russian and Church Slavonic vowels are pure, without diphthongs, as in Latin or Italian:

Cyrillic	Transliteration	English Key Word	IPA Symbol
а	a	father	[ a ]
е, ё, э	e	bet	[ e ]
и, і	i	meet	[ i ]
о	o	obey	[ o ]
о (unstressed)	ö	sofa	[ ʊ ]
у	u	food	[ u ]
ы	ï	dip	[ ɨ ]

The vowels ю and я following consonants are transliterated as iû and iâ, respectively. In reality it is the consonant preceding the vowel that is softened by the fleeting i [ j ] sound (see PALATALIZED CONSONANTS below). The vowels е (ё), ю, and я at the beginning of words or following another vowel are transliterated as ye, yu, and ya, respectively. The letter y in transliteration always represents a semi-vowel, blended with a vowel, as in yet or toy; it never sounds alone as in copy or cry.

CONSONANTS

Consonants are pronounced as in Latin or English, with the following restrictions and exceptions:

Cyrillic	Transliteration	English Key Word or Explanation	IPA Symbol
г	g	get	[ g ]
г (initial)	gh	voiced; no exact English equivalent; distinguish from “h” below	[ ɣ ]
ж	zh	treasure	[ ʒ ]
й	y	always blended with a vowel as in yet , toy ; never sounds alone as in copy , cry	[ j ]
р	r	always rolled	[ r ]
с	s	set	[ s ]
х	ḥ	aspirated, as in German Bach ; no exact English equivalent	[ x ]
ц	ts	lets	[ ts ]
ч	ch	chop	[ tʃ ]
ш	sh	shop	[ ʃ ]
щ	shch	fresh cheese	[ʃtʃ]

PALATALIZED (SOFT) CONSONANTS

Consonants followed by the vowels е, ю, or я are always softened (palatalized) by blending them with a fleeting sound of y ([ j ]). Consonants are also softened when followed by the “soft sign” (ь). The symbol used to designate soft consonants in transliteration is the tilde (~), which is similarly used in Spanish: e.g., cañon. The following examples illustrate the occurrence of soft consonant sounds in English:

Transliteration	English Equivalent	IPA Symbol
б̃	abuse	[bʲ]
д̃	bid you	[dʲ]
л̃	million; Italian gli	[lʲ]
м̃	amuse	[mʲ]
н̃	canyon	[nʲ]
п̃	pure	[pʲ]
р̃	merriest (British)	[rʲ]
т̃	bit you (said rapidly)	[tʲ]
в̃	review	[vʲ]

The soft consonants б̃ and в̃ do not have exact equivalents in English; the necessary sound can be obtained by blending the fleeting y sound with the consonant.

APOSTROPHE OF SEPARATION

An apostrophe (') between a consonant and a vowel indicates that the vowel should be articulated with a glottal attack, instead of being linked to the consonant.

An apostrophe between two consonants such as s and h, for example, indicates that the two sounds are to be pronounced individually, not as the consonant combination sh.

CHURCH SLAVONIC VERSUS MODERN RUSSIAN PRONUNCIATION

The language of the Russian Orthodox liturgy is not modern Russian, but Church Slavonic. Its pronunciation underwent a gradual evolution over the past ten centuries, assuming its present form sometime in the late seventeenth century. Generally speaking, Church Slavonic is pronounced even more phonetically than modern Russian, as the following points indicate:

- (1) The adjectival ending -ago in masculine and neuter genitive and accusative singular is pronounced as written, rather than as “-ovo” (“-avo”) as in modern Russian.
- (2) The pronouns yego, tvoyego, moyego, etc., are pronounced as written, rather than as “yevo,” “tvoyevo,” “moyevo.”
- (3) The unstressed vowel o is pronounced “o,” rather than as a schwa as in modern Russian.
- (4) The initial consonant g (transliterated as gh) is voiced with a slightly guttural sound, rather than remaining hard as in modern Russian.
- (5) The verb endings -yesh, -yet, and -yem in second and third person singular and first person plural are pronounced as written, rather than as “-yosh,” “-yot,” and “-yom” as in modern Russian.

A NOTE ABOUT ACCENTED VOWELS

To clarify the textual stresses accent marks have been placed over the appropriate vowels in the transliteration. Unlike accent marks in some other languages (e. g., French), the marks in the Russica™ transliteration system do not change the character of the vowel in any way: an accented “e,” for example, has exactly the same sound (shape, vocal placement, etc.) as an unaccented “e.”
